PRESIDENT INDORSES TAFT BUDGET PLAN

Crow Chief Accepts Leadership Held Mr. Wilson Says Some System Making Appropriation Most Desirable.

COMMITTEE REPORTS TONIGHT CAUCUS WILL RECEIVE REPORT

President Wilson made public yesterday a letter written by him to Senator Tillman, of South Carolina. January 30, in which he expressed his belief in the sheating of the president of the manual strength of the sexpressed his belief in the sheating the co-ordinated.

It was an indorsement of the message sent to Congress by President Taft in both of the day of his administration, which the appropriation bills of concomp and deficiency commitmen and atrongly recommended that a budget plan be devised.

The President's letter gave evidence of intense diseastifaction with the prevailing methods of appropriating money for the expenses of the government. Here is what he wrote upon the subject: "Ever since I was a youngster I have been deeply interested in our methods of financial legislation. Even since then I have insisted upon the absolute necessity of a carefully considered and wisely planned budget, and one of the objects I shall have most in mind when I get to Washington will be conferences with my legislative colleagues there with a view to bringing some budget system into existence. This business of building up the expenses of the nation, piece by pleace, will certainly lead us to error and perhaps embarrassment.

the expenses of the nation, plece by plece, will cortainly lead us to error and perhaps embarrasement."

Since the President wrote this letter the Democrats of the House have taken the Test that the Democrats of the House have taken the first step toward adopting a budget system. The caucus which met March 6 passed a resolution to appoint Majority Leader Underwood. Chairman Fitzgerald of the Appropriations Committee, and Representative Sherley of Kentucky a member of the same committee, as a committee of the caucus to investigate budget schemes and to select some plan for auhmission to the caucus. This will be done during the ensuing session.

Representative Sherley was the most prominent advocate of a budget system among the Democrats of the last Congress. He had the only definite plan that was brought forward.

Mr. Sherley's plan provided for the

Mr. Sherley's Plan provided for the creation of a budget committee to be made up of the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and the chairment of the nine appropriating committees of the nine appropriating committees of the House among the committee which were to draft appropriation bills, setting a limit for the sum to be appropriated in each bill. Mr. Sherley contended that such a system would have prevented the shameless extravagances of the appropriating committees of the last House, which threw to the winds the Democratic common piedges and drew bills for sums which out-totaled the expenditures of any previous Congress.

which out-totaled the expenditures of any previous Congress. Under his plan, he pointed out, the limits for expenditure by each committee as set by the budget committee would have been approved by the caucus or the House itself, and thus the Committees on Rivers and Harbors and on Public Buildings and Grounss would have found it impossible to report out, "pork harrel" bills of the dimensions of those which were passed in March. Legislative Colleagues.

The Shericy plan did not meet with the general approval among the House Demorata, and it is expected that the system finally to be presented to the caucus will differ from it in detail at least. Considerable interest was taken in the term. "my legislative colleagues," used by President Wilson, in referring to the embers of Congress. It was pointed to is but another indication that the President his some new ideas as to the legislative functions of the Chief Executive.

Later, the governments of Russia and Japan decided to join in the ioan proceedings, and thus the combination was made complete. By representations to China and agreements among themselves, with the sanction of the several governments, the money market of the world, so far as China was concerned, was effectually cornered.
